Future Moon Astronauts Chosen

By SARAH SMITH
Times Staff Writer

Astronauts to begin training for lunar missions

CHICAGO – Humankind took a giant leap closer to returning to the Moon, with the selection of the first lunar astronauts of the 21st century. Fred Jones, director of America's astronaut training program, made the announcement in Chicago this morning.

"This is the most diverse astronaut class ever," Jones said. "We have selected candidates from all around the world, with very different backgrounds and skills."

More than half of the future "lunanauts" are women. This is a significant development from the days of the Apollo [illegible]

OPTOMETRIC OATH

Before God and this assembly,
I solemnly pledge that:

I will faithfully and conscientiously administer the art and science of optometry.

I will keep inviolate all confidence entrusted to me as a practitioner and conduct all doctor-patient relationships in an ethical and professional manner.

I will place the treatment of all who need visual care above financial consideration.

I will uphold and promote the ideals of the optometric profession.

I will do all in my power to improve my knowledge of optometry and increase the extent of my contribution to the heath and welfare of society.

I will render to the best of my ability, complete optometric service.

I will do my utmost to serve my country and my community faithfully, as an optometrist and as a citizen.

I will strive by action and deed to honor the title bestowed upon me this day.

With firm resolution of purpose and high resolve, I proudly dedicate my work to the betterment of human vision and my life to the service of humanity.

And may God watch over me, and keep me steadfast, in the due performance of this my solemn oath and obligation.
